Former Industry Great Returns to Paintball

Pittsburgh, PA- Industry great, Tom Kaye has announced that he will attend the 2011 Paintball Festival and Business Conference where he will be showcasing his new product the ShoeBox Compressor. Mr. Kaye has had the rare opportunity to see an industry grow from a complete unknown to the 2nd most popular outdoor sport in America. His companies Airgun Designs and Perfect Circle Paintballs have been long known for their technology contributions to the game including compressed air systems and less-lethal pepper filled projectiles.

The 2011 Paintball Festival and Business Conference will take place August 5, 6, 7th 2011 at the Four Points Sheraton Pittsburgh North. The Business Conference will consist of top professionals sharing their expertise with field owners and manufacturers to help educate and motivate advancement of the paintball industry. As well as proven ways for field owners to augment their bottom line!

Following the conference the 2011 Paintball Festival will kick off a weekend of "Total Immersion" including a Trade Show, two day scenario game, 10-man Ultimate Woodsball League event, and Tippmann Tech Classes . For airsoft enthusiasts there will be the PALCO Target shoot and CQB in the speedball arena both days as well as a twilight airsoft game on Sunday. Major sponsors include Empire, Tippmann, Valken, Kingman, ProCaps and PALCO with media support from 68Caliber, Paintballx3 and Paintball.com as well as media sponsorship from PB Nation.
